What Is Enough For Me?

If I stopped comparing my journey to others or tried to keep up with societal pressures, what does success look like for me? What do I need to feel like I've done or have enough?

